

Writing Your Husband a Love Note

Stationary

You can choose a style that reflects who you are—lace & ribbons, roses, bright colors, rainbows, cute kittens, or pictures of a hobby you enjoy. Mist a bit of your favorite perfume on the stationary after writing your love note. He'll open it and think of you!

Or choose something that fits his style—his favorite colors, pictures of his favorite things, sports, outdoor scenes, or animals. When he sees it, he'll realize that you thought of him!

You might want to rubber stamp and emboss your own very special card for him. Or make it on the computer. Many you paint, draw, or cartoon. Turn a masterpiece into a card.

Inspiration

Be inspired to write the note. Thankfulness is a great inspiration. Think of all the good things he has done and does do for you and the children. Thank him for working hard, being thoughtful, and being a faithful man of God.

Dreams can inspire you to write a note that calls your husband back to the dreams you both have. Remind him of those things that you have hoped to happen in the future. Or remind him of his personal dreams and let him know that you want them to happen too. You are dreaming with him and praying that his dreams will come true.

Expressing respect and admiration is a great topic for a love note. Men have a deep need to feel admired and respected. You can meet this need with a meaningful letter telling him that he is wonder and up on a pedestal in your heart!

Reminisce in your love note. Remember those crazy or tender romantic things from the near or distant past. Recapture those moments in your note and let them wash over the two of you. Memories are precious things. “Remember when...”

How about telling your husband how much you like him? That he still turns your knees to jelly and brings butterflies to your tummy. You think he’s sexy and handsome!

Building your husband up in the Lord is a great motivation to write him a love letter. Don’t beat him up with the Word of God. Instead, encourage him to grow by reminding your dear husband of all the glorious promises that belong to him as a man of God! Let your words be filled with grace and tenderness as you invite him to enjoy the Father’s deep love and faithfulness. Don’t forget: your spouse is also your brother in the Lord.

Enclose Something Special

Victorian ladies enclosed a lock of their hair and sentimental men carried it around to remind them of their dearest love. What a romantic gesture. Why not enclose a lock of your hair, a favorite Bible verse, a CD of love songs, a poem written just for him, or meaningful lyrics to a song that reminds you of him!

Do it NOW!

Valentine’s Day and anniversaries seem to be the time we enclose a “love note” in a romantic card. But don’t be limited to special days for writing love notes. Any time is a good time to write a love note! Tuck a note in his lunch or briefcase and give your husband a surprise

Save Love Notes

Save the love notes you send to one another and tie them in a ribbon. Not only is that romantic, but you can read them when things are not going so well. Sometimes reading an old love note can put a new challenge in perspective. You truly are committed to one another until death do you part!